inDepth Interview

Interviewer: Interview Date: 12/10/2021

Initial contact with Dr. Buricea

Dr. Buricea is seeking new opportunities offering a quality work environment along with a good work/life balance. She hopes to find a role in a collegial atmosphere while making a good living. She hopes to maintain her surgical practice but notes that she is able to do wound care as well. She is otherwise very open and willing to consider the opportunities available. She would like to be somewhere with less traffic congestion though.

Dr. Buricea offers that she brings unique experience having engaged with a wide array of patients and cases. She notes that she works close to the JFK airport which sees patients coming from all places. She also mentions that she has worked in both the hospital and private practice setting but prefers to focus on the former rather than the latter at this point in her career. Lastly, in addition to her wound care experience she regularly takes trauma cases and call.

Dr. Buricea is ready to begin interviewing and welcomes contact through phone call or email. The latter tends to be best, however. For in-person meetings, location will factor greatly into her search. For further locations, she would need adequate time to coordinate her schedule and travel plans. She is also available for virtual interviews.
