inDepth Interview

Interviewer: Morgan Billings Interview Date: 4/27/2023
 Interview Modified: 4/27/2023

Dr. Kelsey Williamson is seeking positions in Obstetrics and Gynecology beginning in October 2024. Dr. Williamson is a resident at the University of Texas at Austin Dell Medical School Program where she is anticipating graduation in the summer of 2024.

Ideally, Dr. Williamson states she is seeking a position in a family-fee practice where she can continue to learn from and support my colleagues. She states she would like a mix of OB and GYN, as well as continuity with OB patients. She states that scheduling is not a primary factor in her search, however, she states she would like some reserved OR time. Dr. Williamson states she has robotics training, is comfortable seeing high-risk OB patients, and would prefer a Level III NICU. She mentions her interest in Group Practice and Employed Physician Practice settings, as well as her experience and familiarity with Epic, Cerner, and Athena EMRs. When asked about any professional aspirations, Dr. Williamson states she aspires to know and grow with her colleagues and patients. She also states she would like to build trust as a physician in a community where mothers know they can come to her for any of their health needs and to have vacation time that allows for mission work globally. When asked about any qualities and attributes that define her as the physician and individual she is today, as well as what potentially sets her apart, Dr. Williamson emphasizes her compassion, empathy, and ability to sit with patients in their suffering and create lasting bonds.

Geographically, Dr. Williamson is primarily seeking positions in Raleigh, North Carolina, and surrounding areas due to family being located here. She also mentions Austin, Texas as this is where she is currently located.

Regarding an in-person interview, Dr. Williamson would prefer a notice 4+ weeks before the said interview to accommodate her residency schedule and travel. She mentions she can attend virtual interviews and would prefer an email as initial contact regarding a position.
